CELEBRATING the 40th ANNIVERSARY of WILLIAMS

2011 marks the 40th anniversary of Williams, founded in 1971 by Jerry Williams. Williams Reproductions LTD began as a manufacturer of replicas of highly collectable tinplate trains. The company quickly grew with the Golden Memories series in the mid-1970s and replicas of Lionel® classics such as the FM TrainMaster. Continuing with the introduction of scale-sized locomotives for 3-rail track in the ‘80s, Williams has always been an innovator in O Gauge model railroading. In the 1990s, the company built upon its achievements with the development of new diesels, passenger cars, rolling stock, and an expanded Golden Memories line.

In late 2007, Bachmann Trains acquired the assets of Williams. Today, Williams by Bachmann continues to manufacture classic postwar and “hi-rail” trains sets, locomotives, rolling stock, and accessories in the tradition of the Williams name. Come celebrate this special anniversary with us as we look forward to reaching our next decade of excellence.

While serving as Cleveland’s Street Railway Commissioner, Peter Witt designed an all-steel, single-operator streetcar that distinguished itself from others of the era by its use of the center door as an exit only. Passengers could pay the waiting motorman as they boarded at the front and exited at the center of the car, an arrangement which reduced stop times, improved schedules, and increased efficiency. Though designed originally for Cleveland, the Peter Witt Streetcar went on to service in cities throughout the world from the 1930s until the early 1960s.

Struggling to compete with GM’s dominance, Alco introduced its first diesel locomotive, the FA-1 in 1945. Alco realized that there was a tremendous demand to satisfy from the railroads phasing out steam power. The unit was designed as a dual purpose locomotive suitable for freight and passenger service. Alco produced almost 700 units from 1945 - 1950 for railroads all over the country.

In 1937 General Motors introduced the first “E” series diesel locomotive. The 2000 H.P. units were designed for high speed passenger service. E7 production began at the end of World War II, with more than 400 units built from 1945 until 1949. The E7 was purchased by almost every major railroad and quickly became the most popular passenger loco ever built.

Diesels
The GP, or General Purpose, class was introduced in 1949. General Motors built more than 4000 GP models for more than 45 railroads over the next 12 years. This locomotive is so versatile that many railroads rebuilt them and continue to use them today, over 40 years later. Ours is true to scale size and will operate on curves as tight as O-27.

GP38 SCALE DIESELS

In 1948, the Electro-Motive Division of GM debuted a new concept to American railroads: the BL-2 locomotive. Offered as an all-purpose solution for "branch line" service, it was a redesigned car body on a modified F3 chassis. It offered the engineer greater visibility to the rear of the locomotive. They were costly to build and maintain, but the idea was revolutionary, making this locomotive a historical milestone towards the development of the prolific GP series introduced the following year. Only 59 units in total were built. Several are preserved in museums and a few are still used to pull scenic railroads.

DID YOU KNOW?
When locomotive manufacturers introduce a new model, they make a demonstrator model available to interested railroads so they can try it out. Only one BL-2 Demonstrator was built, and it was later sold to Chicago & Eastern Illinois. You can use our BL-2 Demonstrator with any railroad on your layout and still be prototypical!
Fairbanks-Morse introduced the TrainMaster in 1953. These 2400 H.P. locomotives were another horsepower milestone for FM, towering over other locomotives of the time in both size and power. Our models’ good looks and powerful drive-train live up to the legendary TrainMaster name.
In 1939, GM’s Electro-Motive Division introduced two switcher locomotives, the NW-2 and its smaller sibling the SW-1. The NW-2 was equipped with a 1000 H.P. 12-cylinder engine. It was GM’s most popular switcher of all time, with over 1100 units sold. The last unit was manufactured in December of 1949. Many railroads and shortlines have rebuilt these units due to their flexibility and reliability.

GE entered the road switcher market in 1960 with the introduction of their “U” (Universal) line of diesels. Their goal was to offer replacement diesels for the aging fleet of first-generation diesels. This model group was quickly nicknamed “U-Boats.” The U33C Diesel was first produced in 1968 with 3300 H.P. and sporting large radiator wings to make it easily distinguishable from earlier model U-Boats.
In 1937, new railroad regulations required two men to operate any locomotive weighing more than 90,000 pounds. Starting in 1940, GE built this miniature switcher to supply the railroads with the largest diesel that one man could operate. Over the years, 44-ton locomotives were built by many manufacturers, but GE sold the vast majority. Ours is a great entry-level item for you, your children, or grandchildren.
Originally built for passenger service at the request of the Santa Fe, this 3600 H.P. unit was later used for freight service as well. The locomotive was basically a SD-45 with a different body. The original purchasers of these locomotives were Santa Fe and Milwaukee Road, but they later wore different paint schemes as railroads merged and locomotives were sold or traded-in for newer units.
GM retook the horsepower lead in 1965 with the introduction of the SD45 locomotive. They equipped it with a new 20-cylinder engine designed after a Japanese marine engine, the largest power plant ever used in a locomotive. The SD45 was able to generate 3600 H.P., a 20% improvement over the SD40 model.
The shining star of Amtrak’s fleet! General Electric designed this sleek locomotive for Amtrak’s specific needs. You will see it pulling many types of passenger cars all over the United States. They are available in two authentic Amtrak paint schemes and ready to work on your layout today!
EMD's newest and most powerful diesel locomotive! This 6000 H.P. locomotive weighs in at 425,000 lbs and can generate 170,000 lbs of continuous tractive force to reach speeds of 75 mph. This 80-foot-long monster was designed to do the job of two SD40 locomotives!

STEAMERS
The Southern Pacific GS-4 4-8-4 locomotive is probably the most recognized streamlined steam locomotive ever built. This large Northern Class locomotive allowed Southern Pacific to reduce the travel time more than 25% from 14 hours down to 10 hours.

- 8 drive wheels with 2 traction tires
- powered by powerful single motor
- flywheel coasting action
- all metal wheels and trucks
- electronic 6-amp reverse board
- True Blast II™ digital whistle and bell
- smoke unit
- constant voltage headlight
- die-cast engine
- 12 wheel tender with water scoop

S2 #6200 was the only S2 turbine model ever built for the Pennsylvania Railroad. The prototype’s radical experimental design included forward drive and reverse turbines. Although it was a powerful engine, its uneconomical fuel consumption and the rise of diesels ended its run after only 5 years of service.
Turn up your transformer and let this steam heavyweight storm around your layout. The classic design of the engine and tender will please any model train enthusiast. These locomotives are not made to sit on the shelf – they are made to run, and they will run for a very long time.

NAVIGATES O-27 CURVES • LENGTH 19.5" • HEIGHT 3.75"
First introduced in 1927, the 2-8-4 Berkshire was designed and built by both Alco and Lima. The newly designed 4-wheel trailing truck allowed for a larger boiler that developed much more steam. Even though only 750 Berks were made, they were popular for longer than most other steamers built in the same era. The last Berkshire was built in 1949 by Lima.
These handsome units first graced the rails in early 1955. Aptly named the “Jet,” these models of the 4000 H.P. General Electric prototype feature 6 wheel trucks, operating pantographs, and scale proportions.

Always at the top of the Christmas wish list, this locomotive continues to be a popular choice year after year with good reason—the GG-1 is one of the most prized postwar Lionel items. According to Greenberg’s Guide to Lionel Trains 9th Edition, a basic single-motor Postwar GG-1 excellent condition will cost you at least $750, and double-motor examples sell for more than $1200! Here is your chance to own an exact reproduction at a very affordable price. We have been proud to offer the GG-1 in our product line for more than 20 years.
The pride of Pennsylvania’s Electric Fleet! There’s no mistaking a GG-1 for any other locomotive. These locomotives performed as good as they looked and were used in passenger and freight service for almost 50 years!

The Williams by Bachmann™ Golden Memories series is comprised of replicas of the most memorable O Gauge trains of the postwar period. These models are sure to bring back memories of a bygone age when model trains were built to last. They have all of the premium features of the originals, including die-cast frames, wire mesh vents, and steel-rimmed drivers on the steam locomotives. In addition, the mechanisms and electronics are time-tested designs that incorporate modern maintenance-free can motors, metal gears, and trouble-free electronics that are backed by a limited lifetime warranty.

The Williams by Bachmann™ Golden Memories series makes it possible for you to own iconic trains at an affordable price with the knowledge they will be passed down for generations to come.

The Collector's Value is the price you would pay for the original product if you were to buy it today in “like-new” condition.

Four of the finest cars in the entire array of Williams rolling stock are featured in this magnificent passenger train. Richly enameled Pullmans have twin bulb interior lighting and are patterned after the newest type cars. The “Boat-tail” Observation has a roof antenna and a solarium just like streamliners on the crack transcontinental trains. The locomotive is a 20-wheel Pennsylvania steam turbine type, built especially for fast runs. Realistic water scoop is built into the underside of the tender. Train length is 5’ 7”.
